

ABSTRACT

In accordance with at least one embodiment of the invention, an interest determination system is provided that may perform daily calculation of account interest, with a single monthly processing of associated charges to clients.